Highly experienced Dell consultants work with cohorts of up to twenty Dell Educators to integrate best practices in the application of technology to their instruction, curriculum and assessments.

Participants can select the focus areas of inquiry-based learning and/or facilitating learning in a student-centered classroom. Within a job-embedded context, they participate in a combination of whole-group training, collaborative teaching and small group reflection.

Through a combination of 7 onsite consulting days and virtual support over a span of approximately 4 – 6 months, Dell Certified Educators will be able to model increased comfort with the application of technology in their instructional focus area of inquiry based learning and/or facilitating a student-centered classroom. They will demonstrate a willingness to try new effective instructional practices in their classrooms and openly collaborate about their lessons learned with colleagues.

Dell Certification for Educational Leaders

Dell Educational Leaders program is designed for site-based school administrators and district-level curriculum and instruction leaders.

Participants will complete a proven, job-embedded process that allows them the chance to actively participate in their own professional growth and contribute to the development of higher-order learning environments for their students. Highly experienced Dell consultants facilitate these sessions to provide the visioning, professional development, logistics support and best practices in the implementation of technology initiatives across all grade levels and subject areas.

Through a combination of 7 onsite consulting days and virtual support over a span of approximately 4 – 6 months, Dell Certification Educational Leaders will learn from one another in small cohorts, within the context of one another’s schools. In partnership with a Dell consultant, they will learn and apply leadership processes, strategies and protocols that align with the realities and cultures around them in a technology-rich environment.

Dell Certification for Instructional Mentors

In support of both emerging and established coaching teams, Dell offers the Dell Instructional Mentors professional learning program.

Within a job-embedded context, district coaches and specialists participate in a combination of whole-group training, collaborative teaching and small group reflection to expand the expertise and experience in supporting classroom teachers and site administrators. Through a combination of 10 onsite consulting days and virtual support over the span of approximately 6 - 8 months, Dell Certified Instructional Mentors will be able to showcase an elevated level of comfort and ability in their facilitation of adult learning through clear, prompt communication protocols and a professional, comforting coaching demeanor.
