

Electronic Medical Records Made Easy

At Dell, we believe that information technology can go a long way toward making healthcare more efficient, effective, and affordable. Healthcare IT does this by empowering patients with better information; by supporting critical medical research and development; and by ensuring that doctors have the right medical data for the right patient at the right time.

But we can't do it alone. That's why Dell works with some of the finest business partners in the world to develop targeted solutions to help solve the healthcare industry's greatest challenges. And that's why Dell has teamed up with Practice Fusion, a leading provider of electronic medical record solutions.

Practice Fusion is the fastest growing EMR community in the United States. The free, Web-based EMR system is used by nearly 100,000 medical professionals across the country to chart, schedule, diagnose, e-prescribe, connect with labs and send superbills – all online, all highly secure. The system can be accessed from anywhere and there are no limits on the number of users or patients.

Practice Fusion works with Dell to provide doctors the most affordable EMR package on the market, with special deals on professional Dell computers, laptops, tablets, printers, scanners, internet hardware and cameras to outfit your medical office. And each solution is customized to match the needs of your medical office and has been tested for optimum performance. Together, Dell and Practice Fusion are making electronic medical records easy.
