

Consumer Information – Ireland

This document provides information for Consumer Customers to support their Online experience at www.dell.ie.

1. Are you a Consumer or a Business?

A Consumer is a natural person acting for purposes that are wholly or mainly outside that individual's trade, business, craft or profession.

Please indicate if you are a Consumer or a Business when prompted during the Basket check-out process. Please note, any price excluding VAT displayed is to help Business customers registered with the Revenue for VAT purposes.

2. Consumer Sales Information

Details of Products, Services, Support, Accessories and Deals are described Online at www.dell.ie.

Price including VAT will be detailed in the Basket before you move to Check Out and Continue to Payment.

Online Price reduction announcements advertised by Dell in the form of Savings are a price discount from a prior price, being the lowest price the product was sold by Dell over at least the previous 30 days.

Dell Ireland Consumer Terms and Conditions of Sale are available at ireland-consumer-terms-of-sale-en.pdf \(dell.com\)).

6. Consumer Warranty and Dell Support Services

As a Consumer you are entitled to an implied statutory warranty of conformity free of charge under the Consumer Rights Act 2022. Dell's support level for this statutory warranty is offsite Return for Repair, within 30 days.

Dell also provides Consumers with a basic hardware warranty. This basic hardware warranty is usually for one year with an offsite Return for Repair within 30 days. In some cases, the basic hardware warranty can be more than one year and/or have an onsite service level depending on the product offering at the time of purchase.

You may also purchase higher levels of Dell Support services, such as Dell Care Plus, Dell Care Premium, Dell Premium Support, Dell Premium Support Plus, and Accidental Damage. See the explanatory table below:
