

Accidental Damage Product Disclosure Statement

Prepared by:

AIG Insurance New Zealand Limited
Level 7, 21 Queen Street, Auckland 1010

Date prepared: 12th April 2022

Important information

As a purchaser of Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance, You are entitled to the benefit of the Accidental Damage insurance cover ("AD coverage"). The AD coverage is underwritten by AIG Insurance New Zealand Limited ("We, Us, Our").

This PDS contains information about the key benefits and significant features of the AD coverage and important information about Your rights and obligations including information about Cooling Off Period, Privacy, Fair Insurance Code and Dispute Resolution. The purpose of this PDS is to give You information You may require to make an informed decision about whether to purchase the AD coverage. Some of the words and phrases frequently used in this PDS and the Dell notice (see below) have special meanings. Their meanings are explained in section "Definitions" of this PDS. Any information contained in this PDS is general information only and is not intended to constitute advice, nor is it a recommendation or an opinion that the AD coverage is suitable for or takes into account Your specific objectives, financial situation or particular needs.

How the Accidental Damage insurance cover works

The AD coverage is issued/insured by:

AIG Insurance New Zealand Limited
Level 7, 21 Queen Street, Auckland 1010

We issue/insure the AD coverage pursuant to an insurance license granted to Us by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand. We prepared this Product Disclosure Statement.

NOTICE FROM DELL ("Dell")

For the purposes of the Accidental Damage Protection Insurance cover ("AD coverage"), Dell has arranged this AD coverage through a group insurance policy ("Master Policy") issued to Dell by AIG Insurance New Zealand Limited ("AIG"). General factual information about the AD coverage is set out in the Accidental Damage Product Disclosure Statement ("PDS"). Please read this information carefully. Should you require it, Dell will provide You with a printed copy of this notice free of charge if You contact Dell at 800 203 355.

Dell is not the issuer of the AD coverage and does not guarantee any benefits under the Master Policy. AIG reimburses Dell for any administrative costs necessarily incurred by Dell to ensure AD coverage is issued to You. You, however, are a beneficiary under the Master Policy. This means that, Your claim for accidental damage ("AD claim") will be covered and paid by AIG. AIG has appointed Dell to deal with any AD claims.

Dell is not authorised to provide any financial advice in respect of the AD coverage. You may consider obtaining Your own financial product advice about AD coverage from a person who is licensed and able to give such advice under the Financial Advisers Act 2008.

If the Master Policy is terminated, AIG will continue to meet claims for the AD coverage specified in the PDS and Terms provided that You have purchased Your AD Coverage prior to termination of the Master Policy and Your AD claim is made within the duration of Your AD Coverage. Dell will give You prior written notice if the Master Policy ends but does not need to notify You if substantially similar cover applies or will apply for such period (or remainder of such period). If You are not provided with such notice, Dell is liable to compensate You for any loss or damage You may suffer as a result of Dell's failure to notify You. You can verify the status of Your AD coverage by contacting Dell at 800 203 355 or by emailing APJ_AccidentalDamage@Dell.com.

Details of Dell's Privacy Policy and information on how Dell collects and processes your personal information can be found at <http://www.dell.com/learn/nz/en/nzcorp1/policies-Privacy>.

PRODUCT DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Cover available

AD coverage applies to an operational or mechanical failure of the Supported Product caused by accidental damage that is the result of an unexpected and unintentional external event occurring during the usual and customary usage of the Supported Product.

AD coverage does not include cover for:

- i. externally-attached computers, peripherals, or other devices that may work in conjunction with the Supported Product;
- ii. components, cases, television or monitor wall mounts, wiring, or items commonly known as “accessories” or “consumables” and which are not built in or on the base unit of the Supported Product;
- iii. any other components not internal to the Supported Product for which you purchased Service; and
- iv. other parts/components requiring regular user maintenance including but not limited to batteries, light bulbs, disposable/replaceable print/ink cartridges, print or photo paper, memory disks, memory cards, SIM cards, disposable memory devices, wire connections, carrying cases, stylus pens, docking stations, external modems, external speakers, game devices, game disks, secondary monitors, external mouse for notebooks, external keyboard for notebooks, or other input/output devices.

Please refer to the Service Description document for a full list of exclusions.

Benefits

If during the term of your coverage Your Supported Product fails because of accidental damage, Dell will repair the Supported Product as necessary or replace the Supported Product with a new product which is equivalent to the damaged product, as determined by Dell on behalf of AIG. The number of claims per year is limited to one claim.

Please note that coverage for Accidental Damage is limited to one Qualified Incident (as defined in the Service Description) per 12 month period commencing from the start date of the coverage. There is no rollover which means if you do not claim within the 12 month period, they do not accumulate or carry over to the next 12 month period of your coverage.

Costs

Premiums

You are the beneficiary under the Master Policy and the cost of the AD Coverage ranges between 60% and 80% of the cost of Your support plan.

How to make a claim

You must submit any claim to Dell in accordance with Your Service Description. When You make a claim, You must comply with the process specified in the “Cooperate with Technician” section below of Your Service Description.

The Code of Practice

AIG is a signatory to the Fair Insurance Code. This aims to raise the standards of practice and service in the insurance industry, improve the way the claims and complaints are handled and help people better understand how general insurance works. Information brochures on the Code are available upon request.

Privacy consent and disclosure

This notice sets out how AIG ("We, Us, Our") collects, uses and discloses personal information about:

- You, if an individual; and
- other individuals You provide information about.

How We collect Your personal information

We usually collect personal information from You or Your agents. We may also collect personal information from:

- Our agents and service providers;
- other insurers;
- people who are involved in a claim or assist Us in investigating or processing claims, including third parties claiming under Your policy, witnesses and medical practitioners;
- third parties who may be arranging insurance cover for a group that You are a part of; and
- publicly available sources.

Why We collect Your personal information

We collect information necessary to:

- underwrite and administer Your insurance cover; and
- maintain and improve customer service.

To whom We disclose Your personal information

In the course of underwriting and administering Your policy We may disclose Your information to:

- entities to which We are related, reinsurers, contractors or third party providers providing services related to the administration of Your policy;
- banks and financial institutions for policy payments;
- assessors, third party administrators, emergency providers, retailers, medical providers, travel carriers, in the event of a claim; and
- government, law enforcement, dispute resolution, statutory or regulatory bodies, or as required by law.

We are likely to disclose information to some of these entities located overseas, including in the following countries: United States of America, United Kingdom, Singapore, Malaysia, the Philippines, India, Hong Kong, Australia as well as any country in which You have a claim and such other countries as may be notified in Our Privacy Policy from time to time.

You may request not to receive direct marketing communications from Us.

Access to Your personal information

Our Privacy Policy contains information about how You may access and seek correction of personal information We hold about You. In summary, You may gain access to or request correction of your Personal Information by writing to:

The Privacy Manager

Service Description

Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance

1. Introduction

Dell is pleased to provide Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance cover (Service(s)) in accordance with this Service Description (Service Description).

For the purposes of this Service Description Accidental Damage means an operational or mechanical failure of the Supported Product (as defined below) caused by an accident, being an unexpected and unintentional event external to the Supported Product and that arises from normal intended usage of such Supported Product and is subject to the exclusions set out in this Service Description.

Your quote, order form or other mutually-agreed upon form of invoice or order acknowledgment (as applicable, the Order Form) will include the name of the service(s) and available service options that you purchased. For additional assistance or to request a copy of your service contract(s), contact Dell Technical Support or your sales representative.

2. Scope of Your Service Contract

Dell will provide the Service in accordance with this Service Description from the date you purchase the Services which is stated under the heading 'Invoice Date' in your invoice and your Accidental Damage Protection Insurance cover will be for the term stated on the line item for Accidental Damage Protection in your invoice. The Supported Product to which the Service Contract relates will be as stated on the line item in your invoice.

For your one-time payment to Dell for the Service as specified on your invoice or other order confirmation for each product (Supported Product) plus any applicable sales or similar taxes, Dell will provide the Service in accordance with this Agreement for the term of Service specified on the line item for Accidental Damage Protection in such invoice, or other order confirmation.

This Service Description together with the invoice, any disclosure documents, any order confirmation and the applicable Dell Services Terms and Conditions (referred to at the end of this Service Description), form your agreement with Dell (the Service Contract).

Your Service Contract (including order confirmation) will generally be provided at the time you purchase the Service. A soft copy of the Service Contract (which includes a link or other reference to the applicable governing Dell Services Terms and Conditions will however be issued by Dell by email within 10 days after purchase.

Services are only available with the purchase of a Dell product for which Dell currently offers the Services related to that Supported Product.

The Supported Product will also be tagged with a serial number that will indicate your purchase of the Services. This Service is available in New Zealand only and is provided to customers based in and residing in New Zealand.

The laws of New Zealand will govern this Service Contract with the courts of New Zealand having non-exclusive jurisdiction.

3. Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance

3.1. Parties

Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance cover is an insurance product which is underwritten by AIG Insurance New Zealand Limited (AIG) and is provided under a group insurance policy that Dell has purchased from AIG. You are a beneficiary of cover under the group insurance policy. As Dell is not the insurer under such policy, your rights under such policy can only be enforced against AIG. Dell is authorised to make the benefit of the group insurance policy issued to Dell available to you under the group insurance policy.

Dell is not authorised to provide any financial advice in connection with the accidental damage cover. AIG has appointed Dell to settle and provide claim administration services for all claims arising from the Accidental Damage cover.

3.2. Cover under Dell Accidental Damage Protection Insurance

If during the term of the Service, the Supported Product suffers any Accidental Damage then, subject to any terms, conditions and exclusions found in the Service Contract, as part of the provision of the Service to you, Dell will, in accordance with the authorisations and appointment under clause 3.1 and following the submission of a claim which is approved pursuant to this ServiceContract:

- i. repair the Supported Product as necessary; or
- ii. replace the Supported Product with a new product which is equivalent to the damaged product

(each of items (i) and (ii) referred to as a Qualified Incident).

Cover is subject to the condition that any Accidental Damage to the Supported Product:

- a. occurs during the usual and customary usage of the Supported Product, and
- b. is caused by either accidental damage from handling (including drops and spills) or an accidental electrical surge.

Parts built in or on the base unit of the Supported Product, including parts or accessories that are required for regular operation of the base unit and shipped at point of sale, including internal memory, built-in LCD, internal components or internal switches, built-in buttons, drawers, lids or panels, remote controls, or cables are also covered for Accidental Damage.

The Service does not include cover for:

- v. externally-attached computers, peripherals, or other devices that may work in conjunction with the SupportedProduct;
- vi. components, cases, television or monitor wall mounts, wiring, or items commonly known as "accessories" or "consumables" and which are not built in or on the base unit of the SupportedProduct;
- vii. any other components not internal to the Supported Product for which you purchased Service and
- viii. other parts/components requiring regular user maintenance including but not limited to batteries, light bulbs, disposable/replaceable print/ink cartridges, print or photo paper, memory disks, memory cards, SIM cards, disposable memory devices, wire connections, carrying cases, stylus pens, docking stations, external modems, external speakers, game devices, game disks, secondary monitors, external mouse for notebooks, external keyboard for notebooks, or other input/output devices.

Repair of the Supported Product, may include the replacement of original parts with new or used parts from the original manufacturer, or an equivalent part from a different manufacturer. Replacement parts will be functionally equivalent to the original parts. Dell may designate an affiliated company or contract with a third party to complete repairs on the Supported Product.

In the event that the Supported Product is replaced, it will be replaced with an equivalent to or better than the Supported Product originally purchased and as determined by Dell in their sole and reasonable discretion.

Coverage for accidental damage is limited to one Qualified Incident per Supported Product per 12 month period commencing from the start date of the term of your Service Contract. In the event you do not submit a claim for a Qualified Incident within one 12 month period, the Qualified Incidents do not accumulate or carry over to any subsequent 12 month period. Accordingly, each Qualified Incident will be applied to the 12 month period during which it is reported, even if such incident is resolved during a subsequent period.

Once the Qualified Incident limit is reached, you may request a subsequent repair or replacement of the Supported Product for an additional charge.

3.3. Claim Management

For claims relating to accidental damage to a Supported Product, you will need to contact Dell or their authorised agents as follows:

3.4. Self-Dispatch Support Programs:

For Customers enrolled in the Dell Tech Direct Program, Qualified Incidents may be handled by certified Dell Customer technicians through the submission of a service request by you to the self-dispatch website or telephone queue for New Zealand. Depending on the nature or extent of the damage, resolution of the issue may require you to send the Supported Product to a Dell-designated repair centre.

3.5. Chat and E-mail Support

Dell technical support service may be contacted through instant online chat available at www.support.dell.com or by emailing APJ_AccidentalDamage@Dell.com.

3.6. Telephone-Based Support:

For telephone support requests, contact your Dell support centre to speak to a technical support analyst at 800 203 355. If you have any difficulties with the phone number provided please go to www.Dell.com/ProSupport/RegionalContacts for the most currently available phone numbers.

When you call Dell for diagnosis or troubleshooting, Dell may request further information from you in connection with any underlying warranty or service contract (see www.Dell.com/Warranty), (see www.Dell.com/ServiceContracts) to assist Dell in providing the Service to you under this Agreement.

The hours of support for the Service do not include public holidays. Please contact your Dell sales or support analyst for additional details. Dell is not liable for any failure or delay in performance due to any cause beyond its control.

In the event of Accidental Damage, Dell will need to evaluate the Supported Product to determine whether such damage is a Qualified Incident. To carry out such examination, Dell or their agent will inform you of the options available to you to ship your Supported Product to Dell for evaluation as to whether the damage is a Qualified Incident.

Provided you comply with process specified in the "Cooperate with Technician" section below; Dell will pay all shipping charges for return of the Supported Product to a Dell service facility. In some instances, Dell may make other evaluation and repair methods available to you as part of the Service.

You are solely responsible for all data stored on the Supported Product. It is your responsibility to complete a backup of all existing data, software, and programs on affected products before shipping the Supported Product back to Dell.

You are responsible for removing any confidential, proprietary, or personal information and any removable media such as SIM cards, memory cards, CDs, or PC cards.

Failure rates of your Supported Products and all components within are constantly monitored. Dell reserves the right to request, if your Support Product has a high failure rate, that you work with Dell to reduce the number of losses occasioned by accidental damage.

While Accidental Damage cover does not provide any data recovery services, if however Dell determines that replacement of a storage device or hard drive is necessary, Dell will reload, at no charge to you, the then-current version of major application and operating system software you originally purchased from Dell, including any installed custom factory integration applications.

Any such reloading by Dell is an extra service benefit and does not form part of the Accidental Damage cover under this Service Contract. Dell does not represent or warrant and this coverage does not obligate Dell to ensure that any installed custom factory integration applications will be compatible with the replacement Supported Product.

3.7. Exclusions

In addition to the exclusions specified under the "Cover under Accidental Damage Protection Insurance" section above, coverage for accidental damage is limited to hardware only.

Coverage is not provided for accidental damage in connection with software including but not limited to:

- i. any defects in or damage (including, without limitation, virus-inflicted damage) to software preloaded on, purchased with or otherwise loaded on the Supported Product and
- ii. any software or other items installed or added through Dell's Custom Factory Integration services purchased by you under a separate service agreement or during the manufacturing process.

No coverage is provided under this Service Contract in connection with:

- i. any damage to or defect in the Supported Product that is cosmetic and that does not materially impair your use of the Supported Product, including, but not limited, to scuffed plastic bottoms, scratched cover lids, dents, superficial scratches and discoloration;
- ii. normal wear and tear to the Supported Product;
- iii. theft or misplacement of the Supported Product;
- iv. damage resulting from reckless, abusive, wilful or intentional conduct associated with handling and use of the Supported Product;
- v. any resultant damage to the Supported Product that arises from one or more conditions described in (i) or (iv) above;
- vi. any Supported Product that anyone other than Dell or Dell's agent has tried to repair, maintain or carry out preventative maintenance or your incorrect or inadequate installation of a Supported Product*;
- vii. any Supported Product that is lost or stolen;
- viii. any Supported Product that is damaged by fire from an external source or that is intentionally damaged or damaged by misuse, abuse, failure to follow instructions provided with the Supported Product, or use of the Supported Product in an incorrect environment;
- ix. any recovery or transfer of data stored on the Supported Product;
- x. defects in materials or workmanship or ordinary and customary usage of the Supported Product;
- xi. any damage arising from acts of God such as, but not limited to, lightning, flooding, tornado, earthquakes, and hurricanes;
- xii. your failure to maintain software and Supported Products at Dell specified minimum release levels or configurations as specified on PowerLink for Dell | EMC Storage or EqualLogic™, or as specified on www.support.dell.com for other Supported Products or your failure to ensure installation of remedial replacement parts, patches, software updates or subsequent releases as directed by Dell in order to keep the Supported Products eligible for the Services.

*For the purposes of the exclusion for your installation referred to in item vi. above, your installation includes and is not limited to:

- a. any incorrect or inadequate installation activity performed by you or any third party on behalf of you;
- b. unpacking or moving the Supported Product;
- c. installation or mounting of a Supported Product to a wall or other structure (or removal of the same following installation); and
- d. affixing of brackets or other weight bearing devices designed for mounting or attachment to a wall or other structure or removal of the same.

Your installation does not include installation services purchased from Dell.

4. Exclusions Applying to Services Purchased after the Purchase of a Supported Product.

Where allowed by law, the Services may also be available for purchase after the date that you purchased a Supported Product.

In those instances, the following additional conditions and limitations apply:

- i. If a claim arises within 30 days after the purchase of the Service for the Supported Product, the claim can only be notified to Dell for assessment 30 days after the Service Contract purchase date reflected on your invoice, information page or other order confirmation.
- ii. The 30 day waiting period will not apply to you if you purchase a new Service Contract prior to the expiration of your current Service Contract and provided such new Service Contract commences immediately on termination of the prior Service Contract.
- iii. You are responsible for ensuring that the Supported Product is in normal operating condition at the time the Service Contract is purchased. Dell is not responsible for providing Services for any damage or defect that existed prior to your purchase of the Service.
- iv. Dell reserves the right to inspect the Supported Product to confirm that it is in normal operating condition.

If, on inspection, Dell determines that the damage or defect for the Supported Product existed before the Service was purchased, then the request for Services will be denied and you will be notified accordingly.

5. General Conditions of Service

5.1. Access

You agree to permit or obtain permission for Dell to access and use the Supported Products, the data located on them and all hardware and software components included in them, for the purpose of providing these Services.

5.2. On-site Obligations

Where any Services require on-site performance, you will provide (at no cost to Dell) free, safe and sufficient access to your facilities and the Supported Products, including ample working space, electricity, and a local telephone line. A monitor or display, a mouse (or pointing device), and a keyboard must also be provided (at no cost to Dell), if the system does not already include these items.

5.3. Data Backup; Removing Confidential Data

You will complete a backup of all existing data, software and programs on all affected systems prior to and during the delivery of the Services. You should make regular backup copies of the data stored on all affected systems as a precaution against possible failures, alterations, or loss of data.

You are responsible for removing the items from the Supported Product referred to in section 3.3 above regardless of whether an on-site technician is also providing assistance.

5.4. Exclusion of Liability

Subject to applicable law, Dell or AIG will have no liability for:

- i. any of your confidential, proprietary or personal information;
- ii. lost or corrupted data, programs or software;
- iii. damaged or lost removable media;
- iv. data or voice charges incurred as a result of failing to remove all SIM cards or other removable media inside supported products that are returned to Dell;
- v. the loss of use of a system or network; or

Dell will not be responsible for the restoration or reinstallation of any programs or data.

When returning a Supported Product or a part of it, you must only include the Supported Product or part which has been requested by the phone technician.

5.5. Third Party Warranties

Provision of the Services may sometimes require Dell to access hardware or software that is not manufactured by Dell. Some manufacturers' warranties may become void if Dell or anyone else other than the manufacturer works on the hardware or software.

You must ensure that Dell's performance of the Services will not affect such warranties or, if it does, that the effect will be acceptable to you. Dell does not take responsibility for third party warranties or for any affect that the Services may have on those warranties.

5.6. Term and Renewal

The Service type and the Supported Product you have purchased are recorded on the applicable line items in your invoice or on the information page forming part of your Service Contract. Prior to the expiration of your Service Contract and subject to the limitations set forth in this document, you may purchase a new Service Contract based on available options then in effect for your Supported Product.

This can be done by contacting your sales representative at Dell. Dell reserves the right to refuse any extension.

5.7. Transferability

Subject to the limitations set forth in the Service Contract, you may transfer this Service Contract to a third party residing in New Zealand who purchases your Supported Product before the expiration of the then-current service term, provided that:

- i. you are the original purchaser of the Supported Product and the Service Contract; or
- ii. You purchased the Supported Product and the Service Contract from its original owner or a previous transferee, that were, in either case, residing in New Zealand
- iii. and You complied with all the transfer procedures available at www.support.dell.com.

Additional terms, conditions and fees may apply to any such transfer. Please note that if you move the Supported Product to an area outside of New Zealand you will have no coverage under this Service Contract and you will incur an additional charge to maintain the same categories of support coverage at the new location.

5.8. Commencement and Consumer Guarantees

This Service Contract commences on the date of your invoice under the heading 'Invoice Date' or other start date noted on your invoice.

You agree that the Service Contract constitutes a business to business transaction and accordingly the provisions of the Consumer Guarantees Act 1993 do not apply to any supplies made under this Service Contract.

5.9. Cancellation for NonCompliance

Subject to any applicable law, Dell on behalf of AIG may cancel this Service Contract if:

- iv. you fail to pay the price for the Service in accordance with our invoice terms;
- v. make a misrepresentation to AIG, us or our agents, or
- vi. otherwise breach your obligations under this Service Contract.

If we cancel this Service Contract we will send you written notice of cancellation at the address indicated in our records. The notice will include the reason for such cancellation and the effective date of cancellation, which will not be less than ten (10) days from the date we send notice of cancellation to you. Separate Services may be cancelled separately for each Supported Product.

5.10. Additional Remedies

This Service Contract affords you specific contractual rights. The Supported Product you purchase from us may also come with a limited hardware warranty from third party manufacturers of Supported Products we distribute.

5.11. Force Majeure

Neither party shall be liable to the other party for any failure to perform any of its obligations (except payment obligations) under this Service Contract during any period in which such performance is delayed by circumstances beyond its reasonable control including, but not limited to, acts of God, fire, flood, war, embargo, strike, riot, or the intervention of any governmental authority (a Force Majeure).

In such event, however, the delayed party must promptly provide the other party with written notice of the Force Majeure. The delayed party's time for performance will be excused for the duration of the Force Majeure, but if the Force Majeure event lasts longer than thirty (30) days, the other party may immediately terminate this Service Contract by giving written notice to the delayed party.

General Responsibilities

5.12. Cooperate with Dell Technician.

You must cooperate with the Dell technician to ensure that the Supported Product is properly serviced. When you call Dell, a Dell technician will both ask for the Service Tag number located on your Supported Product and verify your purchase of the Service.

The technician will then ask you a series of questions to assess the extent and cause of damage to the Supported Product. These diagnostic and troubleshooting steps may require more than one call or an extended session, and you may be asked to access the inside of your Supported Product where safe to do so.

If your issue is covered by the Accidental Damage cover under this Service Contract, the process outlined under the heading "Claim Management" will need to be followed.

Where we can determine over the telephone that a replacement Supported Product will be necessary, we may in our discretion, ship you a replacement Supported Product immediately. However, if you fail to return the damaged Supported Product to us within 20 days after such determination, you agree that you are responsible for the replacement costs of the replacement Supported Product to Dell.

When returning a Supported Product for replacement, unless otherwise directed by your Dell tech support agent, you must not include any parts attached to your Supported Product such as battery, battery pack cover, SIM card, memory card, etc.

Neither Dell nor AIG is responsible for any data or voice charges incurred as a result of your failure to remove all SIM cards inside Supported Products returned to Dell. In addition, when returning your Product for replacement, do not send external parts, such as but not limited to cords, cables, controls, or lens caps.

Where the fault is an Accidental Damage claim and the issue is not resolved remotely in accordance with clause 3.3 Claims Management, then, at Dells' discretion, following completion of remote diagnosis or troubleshooting, the technician may send you a replacement part for you to install on the Supported Product as part of the Services provided in relation to a Qualified Incident.

6. Limitation of Liability

Subject to any applicable law, neither Dell or AIG nor either of their affiliates, partners, officers, directors, employees or agents are liable to you, or any subsequent owner or other user of the Supported Product, for any incidental or consequential damages, including, but not limited to:

- i. liability or damages for the Supported Product not being available for use;
- ii. loss or corruption of data or software;
- iii. any loss due to Supported Product failure; or
- iv. any and all incidental, indirect, special or consequential damages arising out of or in connection with the use or performance of the Supported Product, even if you have been advised of the possibility of such damages.

By entering into this Service Contract, you expressly waive any claims described in this paragraph. You agree and understand that we will not be responsible or liable for any amount of damages above the aggregate dollar amount paid by you for the purchase of the Supported Product covered by this Service Contract.

7. Dell Services Terms & Conditions

This Service Contract is entered between you, the customer (you or Customer), and the Dell entity identified on your invoice for the purchase of this Service.

Subject to any applicable law or regulation, the Services are provided subject to and governed by a separate signed master services agreement between you and Dell that explicitly authorises the sale of the Services.

In the absence of such agreement, depending on Customer's location, this Service is provided subject to and governed by either Dell's Customer Master Services Agreement or the agreement referenced in the table below (as applicable, Dell Services Terms & Conditions).

Please see the table below which lists the URL applicable to New Zealand

The parties acknowledge having read and agree to be bound by such terms.
